"Patriotism & pride": Sheriff Patrick McDermott and the Norfolk County Sheriff's Office will host a "House to House for Heroes" veterans-focused outreach in Foxborough on Saturday, October 4th

FOXBOROUGH, MA – The Norfolk County Sheriff's Office will visit veterans in the Town of Foxborough on Saturday, October 4th, while hosting a "House to House for Heroes" outreach effort. Volunteers will go door-to-door to deliver important information about the many resources and benefits available to veterans.

House to House for Heroes will begin after a 9:15 a.m. kickoff ceremony at the Foxborough Community Center, located at 76 Main Street in Foxborough. Volunteers will then visit neighborhoods to connect with veterans, in partnership with the Foxborough Veterans' Service Office.

People interested in joining this effort as volunteers can arrive on that Saturday at 9:00 a.m. at the community center, or register in advance at https://bit.ly/HouseToHouseFoxborough

"This volunteer-driven effort is a great way to support local veterans, and say thank you at the same time," said Sheriff Patrick McDermott. "While veterans are the beneficiaries of this outreach, our past House to House efforts have shown that volunteers end their day of outreach with a great sense of fulfillment, patriotism, and pride."

Volunteers will deliver a packet of information that includes helpful details about how to apply for assistance and health benefits from Veterans Affairs, details about housing and employment opportunities, information about newly available state benefits, a letter thanking them for their service, and contacts for many veteran-based agencies.

The Hero Act, signed by the Healey-Driscoll Administration in 2024, affects hundreds of thousands of veterans across Massachusetts, and the Norfolk County Sheriff's Office wants to make sure they are aware of these landmark benefits.

The Norfolk County Sheriff's Office has held four similar veteran outreach efforts in Stoughton, Walpole, Norfolk and Weymouth this year and two in Quincy and Braintree last year.
